Position description

The main aim of the WP is to train trainers on the adapted method in order to provide them with the skills necessary in order to transfer the methods to teachers of schools in their countries and in Europe (in general).

The training of trainers is going to be organised with a blended method (face to face learning and elearning). The face to face seminar is going to be organised in the framework of the 3rd transnational meeting in Girona (University of Girona). The selected trainers are going to participate in the 3-day training seminar that is going to be organised in Girona (University of Girona). During these 3 day seminars the training is going to be organised on the basis of lectures, interactive activities and exercises, theoretical and practical part.

After the end of the training activity in Girona (University of Girona), the participants in the training are going to participate in the e-learning part of the training. In this part, they are going to receive additional training and support online by the responsible organisations. This is an important part of the training, since trainers will return to their countries and work directly in their schools and practice on the methods learned in Girona (University of Girona). The e-learning tool will serve as well to share experiences and reflections, and also to improve their own mastery and learning of the method.
